Welcome to Plum Pudding Newsletter for November, incredible to think that we are already in the midst of autumn, thinking and planning for December festivals.

How beautiful was it to come to Plum Pudding every October morning to see a yard covered in colourful leaves, like tiny pieces of treasures.... We really are in the midst of fall now and getting up in the morning is getting more and more excited. Although, if we are honest, the cold weather has not hindered the children's desire to be outdoors at all - instead we all rug up with coats, gloves, hats and wellies- and venture outside. The outdoors come alive during autumn. We love being able to provide the opportunity for children to experience the smell of rain drops on the leaves, or to dig and slosh in the mud patch and look at all the insect's life that comes to the surface in the wetter months weather...

“Play is the highest form of research” said Albert Einstein...

The children were continuing to explore, discover their surroundings and ask questions constantly, which means that those little wheels are working hard and they are soaking up the experiences with enthusiasm! What are some of the things that we have been learning about this past month?

During October all the groups had lovely activities, mostly in autumn theme. The Green and Yellow groups had lots of fun during singing activities. We taught them songs about fall such as „Autumn leaves are falling off the trees’ throwing colourful leaves up in the air and watching them whirl down. Also „Rain, rain go away” became very popular, the children loved walking around in circle with an open umbrella while singing.

Red and Blue groups created wonderful art works during craft activities. They made window decorations which are so pretty, in fact, that we have decided to leave them on our windows, until the first snowflakes begin to fall...

All the groups had nice time when we performed puppet shows, or organized theater with the children. They had a wide variety of creative stories and it was not only enjoyable, but those activities can also develop the children's listening, comprehension and communication skills, self confidence and self-esteem as well while boosting their imagination and creativity!

And, at last, but not least we have to add that Red and Blue groups had the opportunity to take part in a wonderful concert on the 13th of the month. We all went up to the Svábhegy with our favourite cogwheel train to join the concert in the cozy Jókai Klub. After sitting down very soon the music of the group called „Makám” filled up the air, the children just kept singing along with them while clapping their little hands until they turned red... The songs were about animals, like cats, lions, hedgehogs, and also fairy tale characters, like witches, giants. It was very nice to see how the kids enjoyed the music. They were informed by the musicians about the instruments. There were different kind of guitars, drums, violins on the stage.

We are looking forward to have an exciting November! We wish all of you a cheerful, healthy month!
